U. S. LOANS MOVE CROP

U. S. TREASURY IS TO DEPOSIT
$34,000,000 IN NATIONAL
BANKS FOR LOANS

Responding to information gathered from five thousand national banks, the secretary of the treasury is to place $34,000,000 on deposit in banks located in states of the Middle West, the South and in the Southwest. This sum and more if necessary will be loaned to persons, meeting conditions as to credit, who need aid in marketing the bumper crops, or for other legitimate purposes. The motive back of this effort to provide short-term loans at a low rate of interest for producers who otherwise might find it difficult to get possession of fluid capital, is wholly altruistic, though sufficiently guarded in its administrative details to insure to the government a minimum of loss. The plan does for rural regions and for agriculturists what the national treasury long ago found moral and legal authority for doing in behalf of urban capitalists and bankers, but which it was left for latter-day administrators of the treasury to discover was quite as permissible when undertaken in behalf of residents of the wheat, corn and cotton producing regions of the country. To the notion of the government as borrower most persons of most nations, whether civilized or semi-civilized, are habituated. The proof of which is the stolid, passive mood in which contemporary humanity faces the astounding rate of increase of indebtedness of nations, states and cities. But the policy of the state acting as lender is not one so generally or passively accepted. Nevertheless, the custom grows as the theory of collective action to meet special group or individual need gets wider recognition from voters and from administrators.

Of course from the practical administrative standpoint the main consideration of this particular form of treasury loan is the care and vigilance shown in extending credit, and here it is to be noted that the treasury department uses to the full the specialized knowledge of national bank administrators in all localities where loans are made. It is hardly necessary to dwell upon what it means to a borrower to get funds at the rate of 2 per cent per annum at a time when control of ready money means marketing of crops at the best time for sales.

Incidentally it should be noted that not only is crop movement to be facilitated this year by government loans; it also is to gain by the celerity and vigor with which the railways are rushing the new wealth toward terminal ports on the Great Lakes and oceans. Never has the traffic moved so smoothly or in such volume, which is most fortunate in view of the size of the crops and the desire of both producers and common carriers to get their pay speedily. — Christian Science Monitor.

EXPENSIVE DOING BUSINESS

Conditions of things make it expensive to do business in Glendale. Merchants are anxious to get the patronage of the citizens of this place, hence they are ever ready to be accommodating to their customers, and with a minute's notice start a messenger boy on an errand which involves a purchase of only a few cents.

Even the editor of the Glendale Evening News is often asked to make a special delivery of one copy of the paper of a back number for the price of a single copy, two cents.

Now, just imagine answering the telephone, selecting the back number of the paper, sending a boy off six blocks or more, all for two cents, makes doing business expensive.

When we object to making such deliveries we are told that we should accommodate our customers. We want to accommodate our regular customers and take a pleasure in doing so, but the trouble comes that such people are not regular customers.

THE TRUE BOOSTING SPIRIT

Upon coming to Glendale eighteen months ago, the present manager of the Evening News was asked if he was a "booster." He replied that time would tell. Now since a year and a half has passed it may be in order to state that those persons asking the question find it difficult to keep up with the boosting enthusiasm exhibited by the one they questioned.

There is a difference between talking "boost" and that steady pull and push enthusiasm that stays with the true booster the year 'round.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," we are told. Also "much learning maketh a man mad." So what are we going to do about it?

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

GERMAN ARMY IS REPULSED BY
BELGIANS WITH BIG LOSS
AT CITY OF LIEGE

Reports from the seat of war say that the German army endeavoring to cross Belgium, aiming their advance down the river Meuse, burned two villages, but were repulsed by the Belgians at Liege, Belgium, near the German border. The Germans attacked Liege from three different points and eight thousand dead and wounded is the price paid by the Germans for the attack on the city, which is said to be the chief strategic point on the march toward France. A French army is on the way toward Liege to assist the Belgians in repulsing the Germans.

British ships sank the Hamburg-American line's steamer Koenigsluise, which had been fitted up as a mine layer. The French fleet on the Mediterranean is said to have captured three German cruisers.

A French torpedo craft captured a German tank steamer with 2000 tons of oil.

Italy seeks to remain neutral in this crisis, but Germany has called upon her to live up to the terms of the treaty between them.

Turkey in living up to the terms of neutrality has closed the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

The Russian fleet has captured some German merchant ships, but no important engagements have taken place between the Russian and German armies.

Roumania has proclaimed her neutrality.

Germany has violated the neutrality of Switzerland and Holland by entering those countries.

The report comes that at the first clash of arms between England and Germany, Japan will send a fleet with 10,000 men to attack Tsing Tan and 10,000 more to relieve British garrisons at Tsen Tsin and Pekin.

It is believed that a number of Americans were caught in the vicinity of the first battle yesterday.

President Wilson has tendered to the warring nations the good offices of the United States as a mediator in the following terms:

"As official head of one of the powers signatory to The Hague convention, I feel it to be my privilege and my duty under article 3 of that convention to say to you in a spirit of most earnest friendship that I should welcome an opportunity to act in the interest of European peace, either now or any other time that might be thought more suitable, as an occasion to serve you and all concerned in a way that would afford me lasting cause for gratitude and happiness." — WOODROW WILSON.

The feat of Roland Garros, the French aviator who sacrificed his life by ramming the gas bag of a Zeppelin dirigible, was duplicated by a Belgian aviator who swooped down upon a German birdman who was endeavoring to gain a line on Belgian troops and fortifications. The Belgian crashed down upon the German's planes with a force that sent them both to the ground, crushed to a pulp.

A Russian aviator, while scouting over the kaiser's troops on the Russo-German frontier, was killed by German sharpshooters.

CHINESE ENDORSE VINCENT MORGAN

The present political campaign in Los Angeles county has brought out one fact that has heretofore been known to but few people. There are 386 Chinese votes in the city and county of Los Angeles.

Under our treaty with China, all Chinese born in the United States are entitled to citizenship. They have an order modeled closely after that of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and it is called the Chinese Native Sons of the Golden State, and is one of the oldest fraternal orders in the state of California.

The first political activity that they have ever manifested was brought to light recently when, as a body, they endorsed the candidacy of Vincent Morgan for district attorney of Los Angeles county. The Chinese very seldom take more than a passing interest in any Caucasian, and few white men have ever enjoyed their full confidence. Chief of Police Sebastian of Los Angeles is one of the few who seems to possess the absolute confidence of all Orientals. The fair manner in which Vincent Morgan has administered the duties of police commissioner was no doubt the cause of their endorsement of his candidacy for a higher office.

Captain Mangam of Sawtelle was an all-day guest Tuesday in the home of his niece, Mrs. H. L. Neel, Jr., 1473 West Third street.

LOCAL SHORT STORIES

WILLISFORDS TO ENJOY MONTH
OF REST

The Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford and family of 231 Orange street have absented themselves from Glendale and expect to remain away during the month of August. At present Mrs. Willisford and little daughter Joy are in Los Angeles, where they are guests of Mrs. Willisford's mother, Mrs. J. C. Ashbaugh, 1223 Borendo street, while the Rev. Willisford is giving Bible talks every morning this week at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina. Tonight Miss Carol Willisford will return from the Campfire Girls' camping trip and join her mother in Los Angeles. On Monday of next week the Rev. and Mrs. Willisford, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Carol, will go to Switzer's camp near Pasadena, where they will enjoy a three week's outing and rest. Little Joy will remain in Los Angeles with her grandmother and during the family's absence their home will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Kern.

The Rev. Sloan will take over the services at the Congregational church this month.

MERCHANTS' BANQUET

This evening's banquet of the Glendale Merchants' Association at La Ramada restaurant, Casa Verdugo, will surpass anything of the kind previously held under the auspices of the Merchants' Association.

The attendance will be large on account of the increased membership of the association, and on account of the prominence of the renowned La Ramada. Important questions will be brought up for consideration, questions that are of vital interest to the welfare of Glendale. The banquet hour is 7:30. Guests going by way of the Pacific Electric will leave Broadway station at about 7:00 o'clock.

THREE TONS OF PAPER STOCK

The anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News will require almost three tons of paper stock, at a cost of almost $400. This edition is exclusively for Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo. The management of the Evening News is assuming a risk which he guarantees to carry through to a successful finish. You are asked to co-operate with him.

In union there is strength. If we all boost together, we can accomplish great things boosting. Remember, 5000 copies to be printed—number of pages 64.

BEACH VISITORS

This is the season of the year that it is popular to spend a week, a month or several months at the beach. To the man from the East, where camping is enjoyed under beautiful trees on a matted carpet of green grass, it seems exceedingly strange to get any comfort out of basking in the hot sun on banks of sand.

Someone has remarked that there is more popularity than comfort connected with the beach rests, or probably the benefit of the outing comes from enjoying home so much better after several weeks are spent in the burning sun on the hot sands.

The fad is on and is likely to remain so long as the snow-capped mountains are considered a hot place to spend a vacation.

JUDGE GEO. MELROSE

ASKS RE-ELECTION ON MERITS
AS THE PRESENT IN-CUMBENT

Judge George C. Melrose, justice of the peace of Burbank township for the past nine years, seeks re-election to the office and is willing to let his past record as a judge speak for him. He has had two cases before the supreme and appellate court and his decision was sustained in each instance.

He has resided in Los Angeles county for twenty-five years, and since first being elected justice he has lived in Tropic, where he has just handled the first liquor case ever tried in Tropic in a way that won him the high regard of all concerned for his evident desire to be just and to do right.

Judge Melrose has a reputation all over the county for his method of handling juvenile cases. He has handled a large number of cases of young men in their first offenses and has worked them out so that the requirements of the law were fulfilled and the activities of the offenders turned in the right direction.

Judge Melrose was born in Ohio and is a graduate of Holbrook National Normal School at Lebanon, 1870. He taught school for six years, where he secured his great understanding of children, their ideas, prejudices and the points on which they can be appealed to, which knowledge has proven invaluable to him on the bench.

He came to California in 1887 and followed various pursuits. He has been a Master Mason for 44 years and is a member of the Glendale lodge. He is a man held in high esteem by his fellow citizens as an upright and honorable man and a just and fair judge. His decisions are made regardless of friendship or politics, the merits of the case being the only thing considered. He expresses his willingness to hold court at any place in the township, as he has done heretofore, should he be re-elected.

IOWA STATE SONG

(Air Maryland)

Self banished from our native state,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Thy name and fame we celebrate,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

With water fill each sparkling glass,
Drink, every one, until it pass
From oldest lad to youngest lass,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Washed by great rivers on each side,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Thy breast grain laden reaching wide,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

From every outpost to Des Moines,
What wonderful conditions join
To fill the granger's purse with coin,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

With high-grade citizens content,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

We never had a president,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

But we have statesmen everywhere,
Well fitted for the White House chair
And now one Cummin (s) may get there,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

When gathering clouds betoken war,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Thy loyal voice was heard afar,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

"Help save the Union," Lincoln cried,
"Send soldiers brave and statesmen tried."
"We will," the Hawkeye state replied,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

How grand thy fields of waving grain,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Schoolhouses dotting hill and plain,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Church, college, university,
Intelligence of high degree,
Thy cities marts of industry,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Across the intervening miles,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

We send a thousand homeland smiles,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

We parted from you with regret,
And here confess we love you yet,
We never, never will forget,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Here camping on the western coast,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Thy children are a numerous host,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

Here where the climate wears the crown,
Are Hawkeye people of renown,
Enough to own and run the town,
Iowa, Oh Iowa!

LOCAL CLUB GROWING

SHAKESPEARE SECTION HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING AT HOME OF MRS. EVANS

Another interesting section was added to the Tuesday Afternoon Club Wednesday when in answer to the summons twenty-four ladies gathered in the home of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, to organize what will hereafter be known as the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Among other important matters, it was voted upon to hold these meetings at 2:30 o'clock the first and third Mondays of every month, this to go into effect the first Monday in October, when the "Merchant of Venice" will open the course of study.

It was also decided upon to charge monthly dues of 25 cents in order to defray expenses should it be necessary.

After the customary organization formalities had been dispensed with, Miss Bertha Jackson, instructor for the course of study, gave her version of "The Taming of the Shrew," also some negro dialect bits, all of which displayed careful training and proved her a finished and dignified artist.

A social hour followed, during which time Virola music and delicious punch, served by the Misses Winifred Jones and Elizabeth Jackson, were enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor was appointed by Mrs. Evans section chairman to fill the offices of secretary and treasurer, and to also circulate the information that all club members were eligible to enter this interesting section, which when the club year opens in October will surely be able to boast of at least fifty members.

LOCAL GIRLS WILLING WORKERS

The Willing Workers' Society met at the home of Miss Ellene Grist, 210 West Colorado boulevard, Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock and for an hour everyone present was what their name represents them to be—willing workers.

Under the management of the president, who is most capable, these little workers are making a quilt that, after completion, will be given to some orphanage.

The next regular meeting of this organization will be held from 2 until 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 12th, at the home of Mildred Meeker, 300 East Colorado boulevard.

Those fulfilling the duties of officers are Mable Prendeville, president; Ruth Palmer, vice-president; Faith Tarling, secretary; Hazel Wallace, treasurer.

Girls between the ages of seven and fourteen years are eligible to join this little band of workers, who will be most happy to receive anyone who is interested in the deeds of the Willing Workers.

LEAVES FOR EAST

Miss Zoe Barnett, well known among musical comedy stars, and who for several weeks past has been enjoying a rest and visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Barnett, 502 West Ninth street, left Wednesday for New York City, where upon her arrival she will immediately commence rehearsal upon a new production, "The Debutante," in which she will share honors with Miss Hazel Dawn of "Pink Lady" fame.

On Sunday last Miss Barnett, together with her mother, received her many admiring friends informally in their Glendale home, the affair having been given as a farewell to the charming little artist, who has a host of admirers and a legion of friends who wish her nothing but continued success.

LUNCHEON AND THIMBLE PARTY

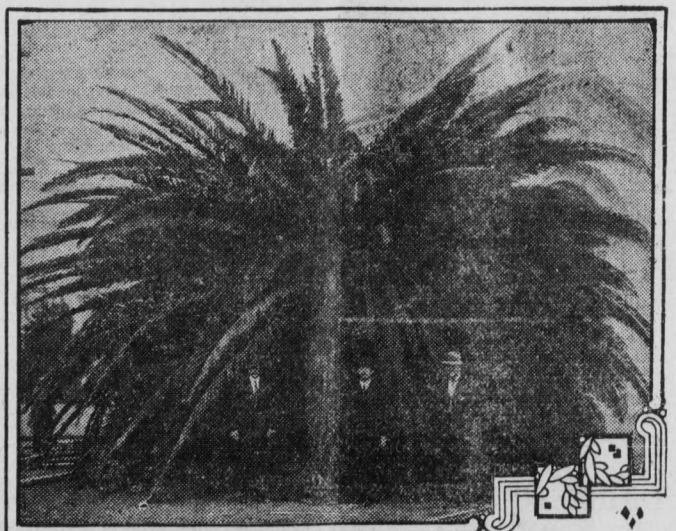

Wednesday the home of Mrs. Guy Eddy of 1443 Hawthorne street was as a cool retreat to a number of friends who were delightfully and informally entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon and thimble party.

Roses and other delicately tinted flowers were used in embellishing the home and table, at which a delicious collation was served by the gracious hostess, who had as guests for the occasion Mrs. Jordan Neel, Mrs. William S. Althouse, Mrs. Oscar B. Wilde, Mrs. J. A. Neel, Mrs. Wilbur McPadden and Mrs. Gus H. Pulliam.

DIED AT SANITARIUM

Mrs. Leona Geercke of Oxnard died at the Glendale sanitarium Wednesday and the remains were shipped to her home in Oxnard that evening, the Pulliam Undertaking Company in charge. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her death.

PRICE OF TYRANNY

Assassins are bred by tyranny and it has been so since government without consent of those governed first sprang into custom, hence the Austrian tragedy that precipitated the present great strife should occasion no particular surprise.

Tyranny always breeds assassins. It has been so since government without the consent of the governed first arose, and the recent Austrian tragedy is nothing to wonder at.

The Archduke Francis Ferdinand, crown prince of Austria-Hungary, murdered with his wife in the Bosnian capital, was not himself a tyrant, though possibly he had the making of one. Tyrant is perhaps too harsh a word for the aged Francis Josef, called back to affairs of state when he wanted to lay them down and take a little rest before death came. But the government this reigning family represents is a tyrant, and the representative who was about to assume the supreme power paid the penalty.

Six years ago Austria seized and annexed the independent states of Bosnia and Herzegovina, over which it has exercised a suzerainty with the consent of other powers. Its action was absolutely without right, and was taken against the protests of Great Britain. The annexed states did not want to be ruled by Austria; racial and traditional antipathies have made them chafe under alien laws and patriotism has kept alive a spirit of revolt. Being too weak to fight openly, they resorted to the usual methods of a small people when oppressed. Such assassination is never defensible, but it is explainable.

That assassination has led to war that threatens to cover Europe, and involve almost every great nation on the continent. All because six years ago Austria demonstrated its belief that might makes right.

CHINESE ARE THRIFTY

Nothing is too small or of too little value to a Chinaman on which to spend his time and labor. Never a foot of land in China lies idle. Where there are roads, the greedy farmer nibbles away at the sides until the paving stones tilt and sink into the fields. As a rule, the roads are footpaths from one to three feet wide. Land is too valuable to be used for pasture or meadows for cattle. On every outdoor spot something is growing. "Every weed is destroyed and every plant is tended like a baby" and not a Chinese baby at that. Foot-hills are terraced and tiers of gardens thrive to the very top.

Were it not for infinite painstaking the fertility of the soil would have run out generations ago. The great yellow loess area in North China makes the problem comparatively easy there. In other places the rich deposits of rivers and ditches are used as fertilizer. In the cities there is no particular use for sewers. Long before sunrise a great army of scavengers from the farms have crept through the cities in their canal boats collecting for the encouragement of the crops what we cast into the sewers.

While "industry is fortune's right hand and frugality her left," an intelligent use of time and energy is necessary for progress. The Chinese, particularly inland, work hard to maintain life itself. Too many people living on a given area has sharpened their wits. Industry and patience are commonplace, yet bound down by superstition, the Chinese are poverty-stricken.

When, however, they leave the graves of their ancestors and work under enlightened conditions of other countries, they become thrifty. Arkansas farms were considered of little value until Chinese thrift came in and began to use them for raising the best grade of rice in the United States. In California they work on farms, in the fruit groves, as household servants, in factories; they have worked as laborers making levees, irrigating canals and ditches. Four-fifths of the labor of grading for the Central Pacific railroad was performed by Chinamen. Chinese labor had a very important bearing on the rapid development of California.

The thrift of the Chinese, intelligently used, with its resultant prosperity and success in America, has startled the nation.

RALLY TO HOPKINS' SUPPORT

With the primary election less than three weeks away, friends and supporters of County Assessor E. W. Hopkins are rallying to his assistance with the realization that the primary election, insofar as this office is concerned, is equivalent to a general election. There are but two candidates in the field for this office, and whichever one of them receives a majority of the votes cast will have secured the office without further contest.

County Assessor Hopkins has held this office since 1907, when he was appointed to succeed Ben Ward, at the time of the latter's death. Four years ago Hopkins was elected. He entered the assessor's office in 1895 as an extra clerk and for nineteen years has worked in this one department.

When Hopkins was first employed in the assessor's office, Los Angeles county had a property valuation of $84,797,000. In 1907, when he became assessor, this had increased to $384,000,000. Since then it has grown steadily until now the tax levy shows a county valuation of $848,000,000.

This year when the tax rolls were made up more than 1,000,000 pieces of property were assessed and out of this great number of levies only 600 changes were made and but 200 of these affected valuations. This is believed to be a record, not only for the state, but for the whole country, and has been the cause of much congratulation to Assessor Hopkins.

One of the matters that has brought great commendation to Hopkins has been the fact that during his administration large bodies of land have been brought up to the same valuations as smaller parcels. This made the individual or the company holding a great territory pay the same proportionate rate as that of the small land owner, and despite some protests, this equalization was made by Hopkins.

Hopkins is one of the best known men in Southern California and his supporters number thousands of men and women of all classes, particularly those who have had business relations with his office and are familiar with its efficient administration. The general prediction is that Hopkins will be elected at the primaries without much contest.

LAPOLD FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mr. George Lapold, who passed away Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. T. McBeth, 431 South Jackson street, are being held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Pulliam undertaking parlors. Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Presbyterian church conducted the service. Interment will be in beautiful Forest Lawn cemetery.

FORGETTING OURSELVES

The great excitement caused by wars and rumors of wars is causing people of the United States to forget about themselves. That such is the case will work good results, for as a people we have no reason for complaint.

We are a favored people and have opportunities not afforded to people of other nations.

Times have been good in the United States and yet there have been those who have found fault. There are some people who will find fault, however good conditions may be.

The truly industrious man seldom finds time to complain. He is so absorbed in the business he is pursuing that he has no time to do else than look on the bright side of things.

Foreign subjects who are in this country find it a hardship to leave occupations of their liking and go back to engage in war. It is only under very extreme circumstances that citizens of the United States would be called upon to serve their country thus.

Barnett of Winnipeg, Canada, where he is in the employ of the Foundation Company, who have granted him an extended vacation. Mr. Barnett will come here by way of British Columbia and will make several interesting stops enroute.

Miss Winifred Olmstead of 1431 North Pacific avenue was the guest last Monday of Miss Frances Flint of New Hampshire boulevard, Los Angeles, who has recently returned from Europe, where she has been studying the piano in Berlin and Paris.

Mr. George S. Pickrell, formerly of Valley View road, and family, are happily domiciled in their new home on Norton avenue, Los Angeles, where they will be glad to welcome their many friends.

Mr. Charles Anderson of Dryden street left Wednesday for Venice, where he will remain several weeks in hopes the change will benefit his health.

Mr. James Barrett and family of Valley View road are expected home from Redondo, where they have enjoyed the sea breezes for the past month.

The many friends of Mrs. Alfred G. Walker of 914 North Louise street will regret to learn that she is confined to her home because of illness.

Mrs. Frank Olmstead of 1431 N. Pacific avenue returned home last Tuesday from Tacoma, Wash., where she has been visiting for the past month.

Miss Ruth Wadsworth of 1017 Fairview avenue is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Wadsworth of Eagle Rock.

Mr. L. J. Farnum of Los Angeles spent Sunday with his family at 910 San Rafael street.

LABOR AND PROPERTY

Property, possessions, resources are the product of labor, and rightly belong to the workers, and to no others. Each person has his own capacities and produces his own results. These products vary and increase according to capacities, skill and activity of the workers, who develop the world by labor. Hence comes property, the accumulated results of toil.

All capital is only the product of work in different lines of business.

Men and society desire and need not only what they themselves make, but also the results of others' labor. Hence arises exchange of works and results, both property and capital. At first exchange is by barter. The law of barter is equality of values and the test of values is amount of work done. Hence comes some representative of values. This is money.

Money is a representative and measure of value and an instrument of exchange and at the same time a substitute for barter. In order to have just dealing, the unit of value must be ever the same, having in it the same amount of work or its equivalent.

To change the value of this unit is simple theft, and he or they who do this are deliberate thieves, taking for one dollar what is worth two, whether property, capital or currency. This was the point of controversy in the discussions of 1873 and 1896. Divers weights and divers measures are both alike an abomination to the Lord and to honest men and governments as well.

Hence, the general government of the country and not the private parties or banks should make the money, the currency, and fix the unit and standard of values.

God says, "Thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, and measure, that thy days may be lengthened in the land the Lord giveth thee. For all that do otherwise and all that do unrighteously are an abomination unto the Lord, thy God."

AMERICANS ABROAD

There is always a large number of Americans abroad—sight-seers, novelty hunters, business men, teachers and students in vacation—which classes seem to be unusually large this season, to say nothing of the ever-large and fast-increasing class, mere "globe-trotters," who are trying to spend money somebody else earned for them in an effort to make a boastful record of the frequent trips they have made "abroad."

Regardless of the motive for going, the number over there now is large (6000 in Paris alone), and while there is not the slightest danger of any of these being "beheaded, drawn and quartered" by the belligerent contending forces now engaged in conflict over there, these travelers will not escape annoyance, inconvenience, embarrassment and actual danger because of these existing hostilities.

The sailor that sung out "Water, water all around, but not a drop to drink," was none benefited by the abundance of water in sight, as it was salt. So today thousands of Americans are crying checks, credit, bonds, by the trunkful, but not a cent of money to buy the most common necessities, buy tickets, pay back or car fare, and in sheer despair they crowd the offices of consuls, make the cable lines hot asking friends for funds which cannot reach them individually at present.

The government has arranged to send funds over to bring everybody home, but it will take time to distribute it. Meantime it is a case of wait with a certainty of inconvenience and possibly suffering to obtain for a while.

No place is travel so free and unobstructed as in the United States, and this fact has led to almost equal freedom the world over, especially for Americans, and to run out of this freedom into a military condition of "halt" with a chance to gaze into the muzzle of a shooting iron while your pocketbook, suitcase and collar box were being examined for anything contraband of war, is well calculated to make the traveler tired and express a wishing sigh or sighing wish that he was at home or had stayed there in the first place.

Travelers and non-combatants will hardly experience a tithe of the trouble to free movements now that was encountered in time of our Civil war, and yet it will mark an unpleasant experience with many caught away from home.

The man who remains away from church and thinks he will get to heaven on his good deeds, is walking up the stairway instead of taking the elevator.

GLIMPSE OF MARVELS TO BE SEEN AT THE HUGE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION IN SAN FRANCISCO IN 1915

THE TROPICAL SOUTH GARDENS OF THE GREAT PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN FRANCISCO

This panorama reveals some of the brilliant architectural phases of the great Exposition which will open on Feb. 20, 1915. On the left is the colossal glass dome of the beautiful Palace of Horticulture, rising almost 200 feet and more than 150 feet in diameter. On the right is the great Palace of Liberal Arts, while still further to the right may be seen the steel framing of the great Tower of Jewels, which will be 435 feet in height. In the foreground ornamental palms and shrubs from distant corners of the globe have found a new home in California.

One of the Many Great Exhibit Palaces Now Completed For the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

NORTH FACADE OF THE PALACE OF MINES AND METALLURGY; DIMENSIONS, 451 BY 579 FEET; COST, $359,445. PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

Whole World Is Planning to Visit the Greatest of Universal Expositions at Which Uncle Sam Will Celebrate the Opening of the Panama Canal.

THROUGHOUT the world millions of people are planning to visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which opens next year in San Francisco. Railway and steamship agents report extraordinary advance bookings. Steamships and railroads are planning low round trip rates, with privileges of routing never before enjoyed.

And while millions are preparing to visit the vast Exposition, which opens on Feb. 20, 1915, preparations for the Exposition itself are far advanced, and it has attained a stage of development unequalled by any universal celebration in the history of the world. The vast exhibit palaces are completed, and the installation of the world's marvels has begun. This unparalleled progress is not confined to the huge exhibit section, for the state and foreign sites and the great concession area, "the Zone," are being crowned by completed structures that leave no doubt as to the preparation made for this magnificent Exposition.

The coming Exposition offers greater spectacles, greater beauty, wider education and more captivating entertainment than any predecessor, and instead of following precedents it has shattered them at every turn and has adopted improvements on old plans that will make it a typical and really modern Exposition.

Thirty-six foreign nations are participating, and the amounts appropriated run from the hundreds of thousands to the $1,500,000 of China and the $1,300,000 of Argentina. The states have not lagged in accepting the invitation to have their part in the glory of celebrating the completion of the Panama canal, and thirty-nine will be represented if the list remains as it stands. New York tops this list with $1,000,000.

Contests will be offered such as have been seen in no other great assembly of humanity, and a few of the many that are drawing the visitors are: The around the world aeroplane race for $300,000 in prizes, the New York to San Francisco motorboat race for $10,000, two harness horse racing meets for $227,000 in purses, yachting events for cups offered by King George V of England and President Woodrow Wilson, the first world's polo tournament, a world's series baseball game and championships in every line of athletic sports.

No phase of the Exposition is being neglected, and the railroads are doing their part by giving unprecedented rates with a limit of ninety days and every opportunity to see the wonders of the United States by special routing and side trips.

South Portal to Palace of Food Products, Pan- ama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

Copyright, 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition Co.

THIS portal is probably the most modern in feeling of any doorway to any of the main group of exhibit palaces. The portal is Italian renaissance in form and treatment, but much of the ornamentation is of more recent origin. The photograph gives no idea of the great dimensions of this portal, which is sixty-six feet in height to the tip of the ornamentation surmounting the arch. The eagles above the line of pilasters of the portal are six feet in height. The Exposition palaces are constructed of grayish cream plaster in imitation of Travertine marble.

WORK AND OWNERSHIP

The ultimate basis of ownership is work, labor. The earth is the Lord's and the fullness of it. The world and they that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the floods. The sea is his, for he hath made it. The heaven of heavens is the Lord's, but the earth he hath given to the children of men. So we are not our own, for we are bought with a price; therefore, it is our duty to glorify God in our spirits and by our bodies, because they are his.

Work is the unbreakable condition of possession and title. He who makes a thing, owns it. Who improves a property gains a title to it before all others and may sell it to meet his claim. God made the world and not in vain. He created it to be inhabited. So every man has a right to his share of it, to develop it by work. No other has any right to his share except by rendering an equivalent in work or its product.

Dishonesty, lying, tricks, schemes, deceptions, extortion and breaking the Golden Rule are not work, but they are stealing. They are no ground of ownership or title.

Equality of labor is the test and measure of value. The fact and amount of value depends upon the amount and fact of contributing to the good of some other. This is the law and ground of goodness in God and man. The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord and he delighteth in his way. Though he stumble, he shall not be utterly cast down for the Lord holds him up with his hand.

The Lord is good for his mercy endureth forever. The Lord is good to all and his tender mercies are over all his works. So to deal justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly under the guidance of God is what he requires and to love God and keep his commandments is the whole duty of man. This is wisdom.

All things work. They all work together. All work together, not apart, for good. But they work for good to those who work with them for the same purpose. But they work with the same force against those who counter-work.

The question then is, who is the strongest and not who is the best.

The weakest must go down and out. Consider then: Are we stronger than he or they? Consider this then, ye that forget God, lest he tear thee in pieces and there be none to deliver. The wicked are turned into hell and all the nations that forget God. Look at Mexico and Europe today. Are they not in hell, and hell in them? It is all because they turn away from his guidance and forget him. Three men—Huerta, Francis Joseph and Kaiser William—are at the bottom of it. They fear not God nor regard men.

REV. A. B. SMART.

MYSTERY OF MYSTERIES

Although it occurred several years ago, it has just sought out the light of day that a certain member of congress passed four days at his home during a session looking after private business, and that upon his return to Washington he refused to accept pay for those days. Yet there is a law that a member of congress shall not accept pay for days during which he is absent, excepting upon public business.

The solitary instance of obedience to the law is Congressman Witherspoon of Mississippi, who is entitled to a monument in the hall of fame—but what a miserable comment upon the great majority of those whom the country sends to Washington.

The law does not say that if it is found out or charged against them, they shall not be paid. It says that they shall not accept. It also says that the secretary of the senate and the sergeant-at-arms of the house shall not pay salaries to absent members, unless they assign sickness for themselves or members of their families. These are the men engaged in making laws for the rest of us to obey. We are paying them to attend to this business and not to their private affairs. And yet, during much of the time it is difficult to keep together enough members to form a sufficient business quorum. — Santa Monica Outlook.

CURE FOR OLD AGE

Old age can be cured. The prescription is a simple one. Mix open air and a hobby, shake well and take as many hours a day as possible. No one begins to age until he is bored, and the first gray hairs come when a man suddenly thinks to himself: "What's the use?" Then is the time when a hobby makes life interesting.

There was an official on one of our great railroads who was retired at seventy. "He'll die now," says a friend, kindly. But he did not. Instead he became interested in the wild flowers and now he is too busy in looking for the ram's head, orchid and trying to find a new station for the hartstongue fern and tramping around in the woods and fields in all kinds of weather even to think of dying. Anyway, he will not have time until he's finished his monograph on the windows of the United States.

There is a woman in Baltimore, seventy-two years old, who years ago sought to forget a great sorrow by learning the butterflies. Her city home has become a rendezvous for entomologists all over the world and houses a famous collection. While her contemporaries are dozing their lives away in caps and easy chairs, she spends her summers in the mountains and her winters in Florida with a butterfly net. Twenty-one new species to identify are her contribution to the lepidoptera and she plans to live until the last goal of an entomologist is reached the using of her single initial species.

An octet of men in Philadelphia, all well past their three score years, some in business and some foot loose, belong to the same ornithological society. They are affixed every day of the year, rain or shine, to watch the ever migrant sheets showing the arrival of the hundred odd migrants that pass through every place every year.

There is great rivalry as to who shall score the most warblers or identify the largest number of birds in one day. At present writing the oldest of the eight holds a record of seventy-five different kinds of birds seen or heard in one day between dawn and dark—one for each year of his age and one to crow on.

A man in North Carolina by the sudden death of two of his family was left alone with but little money, no friends and the cheering dictum from his doctor that he had only a year to live. To while away the few months still left to him as well as to help out his household, he took up the study of edible mushrooms. At the end of a year in the open he notified his indignant physician that he had become too much interested in his hobby to confirm his diagnosis. In ten years he has discovered, classified and tested 170 kinds of edible mushrooms and has published a book that is one of the standard authorities on mushrooms of the world.

Another septuagenarian attributes his long life to the stars. Confined to business during the day, he always sought the open air at night and began to study the changing constellations and the perplexing planets. He then found that with an opera glass he could detect their colors and revealed in the blue light of Vega, the green glare of Sirius, the rose of Betelgeuse, and the strange shades of other gleaming sky kings.

Finally he bought a small telescope. Now, at seventy, he has published a monograph on the double stars, besides a quaint little star guide that has interested thousands in his hobby.

None of the nature studies requires much money or time. A cheap illustrated guide book, an opera glass and, if possible, some walks and talks with an expert, and you will learn almost immediately to identify a score or more of flowers, or birds, or constellations, or mushrooms, and you will have found a hobby on which you may ride away from death.

Try it, young men, lest you grow old. Try it, old men, lest you grow tired.

Escape into the open these narrow indoor days and learn the way to where the wild folk dwell. In their land you will find the help of the hills and hope wide as the world, and strength, and youth, and happiness. Try it.—Samuel Scoville, Jr.

WHY JOHN C. CLINE SHOULD BE SHERIFF

He has lived in Los Angeles 45 years and everybody is familiar with his clean public record.

In 1894 as sheriff he handled the great American Railway Union strike without the aid of the militia, by appointing special deputies from the ranks of labor, to prevent disorder and the destruction of property. Thus in his wisdom demonstrating that men in any walk of life, put upon their honor, will observe their trust.
